

AWARD WINNING DENTIST SPEAKS OF EVOLVING ORTHODONTICS

By Correspondent

Shivani Indrakant Patel a consultant orthodontist from London was invited by the Kenya Dental Association (KDA) to speak about 21st century orthodontics.

Shivani was born and raised in Kenya but completed her undergraduate and post graduate education at Guys Hospital in London. She currently is a partner at Elleven orthodontics in the Harley street District in London and has been awarded two national awards for the "best private practice, London 2011" by the prestigious Private Dentistry and Dentistry awards.

Her seminar to the KDA was held on Tuesday 21 February at the Panafric hotel and she talked about face driven orthodontics along with the new revolutionary Suresmile technology which is robotic orthodontics produced by NASA which has taken America, Australia and Canada by storm. Suresmile has been proven to reduce orthodontic treatment time by upto nine months and has proven to also give a higher quality end result which is greatly sought after by patients.

L-R Sameer Patel, Shivani Patel and Anthony Lam, partners at Elleven orthodontics receiving the award for the "best private practice, London 2011"